Ontarians held in slaying of ex-drug counselor

Ontario men in the beating and stabbing death of a former drug counselor.

The suspects are believed to have drunk wine with the victim, then decided to rob him, officers said.

They were identified as Sam Jones, 36, of 207 E. Maitland Ave., and Francis Marion Anthony, 36, of 207 E. Nevada St., both of Ontario.

The body of Raymond Meras, 38, of 116 E. Sunkist St., was found by his step-sister in his home about 4 p.m. Wednesday.

The body, according to police reports, was slumped over a living room sofa. The victim was covered with blood.

Officers said it appeared Meras had been beaten severely and stabbed numerous times in the chest and head with what is believed to be sharp pieces of wood and possibly a screwdriver.

A preliminary coroner's autopsy indicated that Meras had been dead 20 to 24 hours before his body was discovered, placing the time of death sometime Tuesday afternoon.

The exact cause of Meras death will be determined by the San Bernardino County pathologist, detectives said.

Detective Roy Cole said that during the investigation officers learned from several witnesses that Meras had last been seen about 1 or 1:30 p.m. Tuesday in an alley behind his home talking and drinking wine with three men. The witnesses also told detectives that later in the afternoon, two of the men seen drinking with Meras had removed several pieces of furniture from his home, including a bookcase and mattress to a shed behind 301 E. Nevada St. Cole said that witnesses also reported that the two men seen with Meras earlier had made several trips to and from the victim's home. On the third trip, Cole said, the two men were seen running from Meras' home down the alley.

Cole said they learned that Jones, one of the suspects, lived at the Nevada Street address and had been making the shed into an extra room. A mattress, believed to be Meras', was found inside the shed.

Cole said they arrested Jones and Anthony following an interview at the Ontario police station. Cole said the suspects' stories about their acthis brought about their arrests.

Cole said on further investigation they learned that Meras, several days before his death, had cashed a $300 check made out to him by the city for his services as a drug counselor at the Chicano House.

Meras was arrested three weeks ago by police on suspicion of child neglect, a case which was still pending in the West Valley Court. The same day that police arrested Meras, nine suspected narcotics pushers believed to be selling drugs to persons frequenting the Chicano House were arrested. The arrests led to the closing of "mini city hall" in south Ontario by the City Council.

Cole said this morning that there was evidence that Meras had been drinking heavily with the two suspects before his death, and had been buying the wine they were drinking. Cole said the motive for the murder was most likely robbery.

He pointed out that Meras possibly flashed the money from his paycheck while buying the wine in the presence of the suspects.

Terrorists shoot, kill Guinness editor

LONDON (AP) - Police launched a nationwide manhunt today for suspected Irish terrorist slayers of Ross McWhirter, coeditor and compiler of the Guinness Book of World Records. Home Secretary Roy Jenkins warned that the killing opened up the possibility of more such assassinations in Britain.

"Clearly we must take into account that there is a possibility that (the killing of McWhirter) is the beginning of a new form of attack which we have not hitherto seen in Great Britain," Jenkins told a shocked and solemn House of Com-

Earlier this month McWhirter, 50, offered a reward of up to $100,000 for information leading to the conviction of the IRA bombers who have taken eight lives in London in the past three months.

Active in right-wing politics. McWhirter had also campaigned for the return of the death penalty for terrorists, and demanded that Irishmen living in Britain be issued photograph-bearing identity cards.

City officials irked as Tolstoy Foundation questions families By PHYLLIS CANNON have been treated by the people and Vietnamese refugees in Pomona, whose sponsorship has been lifted from Gerald Martin, may go to San Diego if they wish to be resettled, it was reported today.

This development was not happily received in the community where volunteers and agencies have worked the last 60 days to provide necessities and services for the 26 families.

But the refugees were being questioned this week by representatives of the Tolstoy Foundation, who claim that the families would have better accommodations and opportunities in San Diego.

The 185 men, women and children were brought here in late September by Martin, who used a portion of the $500-per-person federal allotment he received to establish a gardening company which was to provide employment for the new resi-

Needs of the people were not met and those who did work for Martin have been idle nearly a month. Martin was relieved of his sponsorship Tuesday by representatives of the Tolstov Foundation, the non-profit corporation which administers federal funds allotted for refugee resettlement The Tolstoy representatives have opened an office at 800 N. Park Ave. (telephone 622-3800) and Tuesday told the press they would take over sponsorship responsibilities of the families until new sponsors could be

Then came the announcement of the prospective movement of families to San Diego next Tuesday.

Robert R. McClure, Riverside district manager of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, said he had been told of the plan in a telephone conversation with the head of the State Department's Indochina Refugee Task Force.

'I don't know if the refugees want to leave Pomona or not," McClure said on Wednesday, "but I should think they would have more confidence in the people in Pomona than in the Tolstoy Foundation.

McClure said he had told the Task Force people that they should get an attorney "to look at the Martin situation" and also get someone in Pomona "who can make decisions," with regard to the Vietnamese.

"It is hard for me to believe that any of the Vietnamese would want to leave Pomona after the way they

the city and the agencies.

"I know that the city staff is not very thrilled with the idea.

Pomona City Administrator Jerrold Gonce said he had told Tolstoy representatives "when I first chatted with them," that "it is just not too humanistic to keep uprooting these people.

They have been moved so many times (from Vietnam to Guam to Camp Pendleton to California cities to Pomona) that "now to have them asked once again to pick up and move somewhere else leaves a bad taste in the Pomona citizens' mouths, even more so than in the mouths of the refugees," the Pomona official said. Gonce, too, cited the numerous programs, services and goods supplied the refugees by volunteers. neighbors and agencies.

We are very disappointed that Tolstoy is taking this approach after our people have gone to such efforts to make our new citizens welcome,

Gonce continued. 'And I'm sure Mayor (Ray) Lepire will echo this same unhappiness when he meets with members of the Task Force in Washington, D.C., on Dec. 5. Tolstoy representative in Pomona Reed Nelson said that his staff began interviewing the refugee families Wednesday night to determine whether they wished to move to San Diego or remain in Pomona. He said that when the Pomona interviews were complete, the staff would move on to the Miller Apartments in Fontana, where additional refugees had been settled under Martin's sponsorship. Nelson said he felt that moving on to San Diego probably would be best for the families, and he anticipated that a good number would decide to

Those who do go, he said, would be housed in a former PSA training center in San Diego, complete with living quarters, a gym and a swimming pool, with Tolstoy Foundation paying the cost. He said that San Diego County had agreed to provide English language training in day and evening sessions and that the refugees would be taken off welfare.

Tolstoy Foundation has arranged to have a CPA start to work Monday afternoon and "do a full and complete audit on Martin's books,

Two bombs found on jetliner just minutes before takeoff

MIAMI (AP) - A jetliner on which two timebombs were found would have been in the air when the devices were to explode, officials say.

Police said the bombs were found on the Bahamasair plane Thursday just minutes before 62 holiday travelors were to board the Nassau-bound flight.

Airline official Thomas Hughes said the plane's schedule would have put it in the air on a return flight to the U.S. at noon, when the devices were set to explode. 'There was a telephoned bomb threat to airport person-

Jury ducks publicity after decision against Fromme

SACRAMENTO (AP) - The trial of Charles Manson follower Lynette "Squeaky" Fromme has also been a "trying" time for the jurors who convicted her of attempting to assassimate President Ford, the judge says.

U.S. District Court Judge Thomas J. MacBride said the jury - which had been sequestered during the three-week trial - sent him word that they wanted no public exposure. On Thanksgiving Day, members of the jury could not be reached at their homes for comment on the deliberations preceding their verdict

Beef prices expected to spurt again

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Retail beef prices are expected to take a dramatic increase next week as the results of a sharp jump in wholesale prices, a supermarket survey showed Thursday

Market executives said the wholesale price jump was due to a shortage of market-ready cattle. Wholesale prices jumped 4 to 6 cents a pound and will bring retail increases of 10 to 15 cents a pound.

The price of bacon and ham is expected to climb as well, although other pork cuts are expected to remain at current levels. Chicken will remain a good buy due to decreased demand.

In the produce department, increases are expected in celery, green beans, green peppers and squash, while the price for lettuce and tomatoes will remain about the

Kennedy, Brown in poll of state SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - For the first time since becoming president, Gerald Ford trails two possible Democratic presidential contenders

Mr Ford now trails both of these men by decisive margins," pollster Mervin Field said today

However, both Democrats have said they are not candidates for the

In a sampling of registered voters earlier this month, Field said Kennedy, who had trailed Ford by six percentage points last May, is now ahead of the President by 10 points (52-42 with 6 per cent undecided).

Brown, who enjoys strong bipartisan support in the state, ran seven percentage points ahead of Ford (49-42 with 9 per cent undecided), Field said. The poll never before tested Brown in a "trial heat" against Ford.

The President ran 20 percentage points ahead of Sen. Henry Jackson of Washington, although Jackson has narrowed the gap slightly since the May survey, Field said. The survey also showed that Ford has picked up support against Alabama Gov. George Wallace: The President's plurality over Wallace is now 38 percentage points, compared to 30 points last May.

Field said former governor Ronald Reagan currently does not run as well as Ford against the same list of possible Democratic candidates. Reagan is beaten by all the candidates except Wallace.

SHE DIDN'T FORGET

Irene Claire Rohlfing didn't forget the pigeons Thanksgiving Day in Washington Thursday. She brought them a big bag of feed and they flocked about her as she strolled through Lafayette Park across from the White House.

Now it's up to Congress

Approval of aid for N.Y. City probable

WASHINGTON (AP) - When Congress returns from its Thanksgiving recess, the top item on its agenda will be President Ford's proposal that the United States loan New York City the money it needs to avoid default

Ford, backing away from his hardline stand against offering any federal assistance to the city, said at his Wednesday night news conference that he would submit legislation to Congress which would provide up to $2.3 billion in federal loans to the city. The year-to-year loan authority would expire in 1978.

Lawmakers indicated Ford's plan would receive immediate consideration when Congress reconvenes Monday and there were numerous predictions it would win quick approval. But some cited continued opposition to any aid to the city, mostly from Republicans and conservative Democrats.

Ford said self-help steps taken by New York City and the state to increase revenues and cut expenses led him to reconsider his stand. He said the city "has bailed itself out."

Ford's proposal would require the city to pay back borrowed money each year with interest. The interest rate would be at least the going rate at which the federal government itself borrows money - now about 7 per cent - but the treasury secretary would be empowered to assess an additional 1 per cent interest on top of that.

Under Ford's plan, the federal government will have first call on all city funds to assure repayment of the

Both city and state officials said New Yorkers still face "painful burdens" before fiscal problems can be resolved.

Mayor Abraham D. Beame said New York's problems are far from being resolved, but he called Ford's proposal "a crucial turning point" in the city's year-long fiscal crisis.

Gov. Hugh Carey said that "talk of collapse and chaos should now disappear. In its place, we shall talk of the work of rebuilding and restoring confidence in New York City

Even with federal aid, New York officials said the city still must end a 8725 million operating deficit in its budget by June 30, 1978. Officials indicated this will mean further employe layoffs and cutbacks in city

New York state also will have to balance its budget. Carey says the state will end up $700 million in the red this year. State Republicans say the deficit will be $300 million.

Mrs. King wants case reopened

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) - Coretta King, widow of slain civil rights leader Martin Luther King, has called for a reopening of the investigation of her husband's assassination, which she says was apparently the result of a government conspiracy

"I don't have the facts but at this stage I say it appears there was a conspiracy in the death of my husband," she said in an interview

Mrs. King, who is in Nairobi on a three-nation African tour, commented on the admission by the FBI that it undertook a harassment campaign to discredit King, and a subsequent order by Atty. Gen. Edward Levi of a review of the agency's investigation of King's shooting death in 1968. James Earl Ray pleaded guilty to the killing in Memphis, Tenn., and was sentenced to 99 years

Rebellious leftist troops stage another challenge in Portugal

LISBON, Portugal (AP) - Despite their boasts of total control, Portugal's moderate-line military leaders were challenged today with stubborn pockets of mutinous leftist resistance in the ranks.

Military sources expressed confidence that the remaining rebels could be talked into surrender without the use of force.

Most dangerous was the paratroop base at Tancos, which authorities said Wednesday was under control. Paratroops who led last Tuesday's leftist revolt and then gave up without a fight have withdrawn to Tanco and were refusing to recognize central authority.

Military sources said there were 1,500 rebellious troops at the paratroop base about 60 miles northeast of Lisbon.

For the moment force was not being threatened and the paratroops gave no sign they were ready to make a sortie from the base.

The sources also reported that soldiers in the 4th Infantry Regiment in Faro on the Algarve coast were refusing to obey orders.

Socialist party and Popular Democrat (PPD) activists massed at the regiment's gates early today as a form of pressure to gain obedience. There were no incidents.

Sources said that in the Algarve town of Lagos, the local base commander was refusing to obey his superiors' orders

Air force chief of staff Gen. Jose Morais da Silva, who commands the paratroops, offered amnesty to enlisted men who ended their mutiny. He said only officers and noncoms responsible for the revolt would be punished.

Meantime, air force planes dropped leaflets on Lisbon this morning explaining the martial-law restrictions in force since Tuesday when President Francisco da Costa Gomes proclaimed a state of siege for the Lisbon area.

The state of siege imposed on the Lisbon military region Nov. 25 consists of the temporary suppression of rights guaranteed to citizens in order to safeguard the supreme interest of public safety." the leaflets said.

The handbills listed the military headquarters where civilians with critical jobs could obtain safeconduct passes to be on the streets during the midnight-to-5 a.m.

Deficit may cut Saturday mail

Thanksgiving Day sea rescues: 4 days adrift any rescue craft and we were being

LOS ANGELES (AP) Thanksgiving had a special meaning for Allen Zovar and Susan Shepherd, who were rescued after drifting for four days in the open sea in a sharksurrounded rubber raft without food

"It's the happiest Thanksgiving of our lives," Zovar said Thursday. "We just kept our faith up, kept our will power up. And we prayed a lot."

Zovar, 32, a physical therapist, said he and Miss Shepherd, a nurse who said she is separated from her husband and prefers to use her maiden name, Susan Shepherd, "drank our own urine, and that saved us." Both were reported in good condition and were not hospitalized.

The couple had been fishing a quarter mile off the coast last Sunday when their raft was blown out to "The Santa Ana wind came up in about one minute and we ripped loose from the kelp," he said. "We yelled and screamed but nobody heard us. I had a pair of fins and I jumped overboard and kicked while my girlfriend rowed, but it did

He said they had two encounters with sharks in the Santa Barbara Channel between the Southern California coast and offshore islands.

The first encounter came shortly after they were blown out to sea, he said. "We had two or three fish floating next to us on a stringer and the sharks came up and grabbed them. We cut the stringer loose and just prayed.

"The third night out...two or three sharks started circling and sliding underneath the raft," he said. "We could feel them bumping the bottom of the boat. They did that for about half an hour

"What we did was remain silent and keep our feet off the floor so the anything alive," he said. "We figured if we were silent they might go away, and that's what they did.

The winds blew them an estimated 40 miles offshore and kicked up large waves, Zovar said, adding that "we stayed awake all the night, just bailing and fighting the waves.

On the morning of the third day the couple saw Anacapa Island about six miles away but were blown away from the island.

On the fourth day, Zovar said, "we woke up in front of Santa Cruz Island and we tried again. We hadn't seen dehydrated pretty rapidly so we started out rowing Wednesday mor-

They reached the island at sundown and landed in one of two coves on the 2-mile-long island. "We felt that God guided us into that cove," Zovar said, "In the morning we woke up and saw a mast and immediately waved everything we could.

He and Miss Shepherd were taken aboard a boat anchored in the cove. Coast Guard officials were contacted and sent a helicopter to pick up the capsized boat seven days

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) were damned lucky," said David Hill who, along with two buddies, spent seven days clinging to a capsized sailboat in the Pacific Ocean.

Their trimaran, the Nomad, overturned 200 miles west of Mexico in the Gulf of Tehuantepec, said Hill, 36, from nearby Belmont. His crewmen were Edward Barrett, 38, also of Belmont, and Gerald Milsap, 28, of Los Angeles.

The three said they were adrift for seven days before an oil tanker bound for San Francisco spotted them. They arrived here Thanksgiving Day.

Hill said their 30-foot, trihulled craft was capsized by huge waves during a sudden storm Nov. 13. "Those waves were just too big for any small craft to survive," he said. We took three 30-footers in a row. and the third flipped the boat upside

Hill and Barrett were held to the boat by safety harnesses, but Milsap's safety belt snapped and he was tossed clear, some 60 feet. Somehow he managed to paddle back, despite the mountainous

The next morning, they used an anchor, still attached to the boat, to punch a hole in the hull. They crawled inside, and there found enough food and water to stay alive.

During the time adrift, Hill said they tried to hail four passing ships, but none noticed the flares they fired off. Finally on Nov. 20, the tanker, Hydroussa, spotted a smoke flare and changed course toward them.

we looked like prunes - but we were safe," said Hill. "The water temperature is about 76 degrees in the Gulf of Tehuantepec, so it was warm enough to survive for a week even when wet.

"And there's the beauty of a trimaran - when it turns over, it still floats.

'Drive-thru' robbers hit again

A 61-year-old man was kidnaped, beaten and robbed Wednesday night in an incident similar to one in which two Claremont girls were raped and robbed earlier this week in POMONA.

In both cases two men forced their way into the victims' cars as they were waiting in line at the Jack in the Box Drive Thru restaurant at 2517 N. Towne Ave. And in both cases the victims were driven to a vacant house at 2336 Lovejoy St. where they were attacked and robbed.

Wednesday night's victim, David James Vatcher, 61, Pomona, said he was third in line when the pair pushed into his car from both sides and drove him away. During the drive he was struck several times.

After arriving at the house on Lovejoy. Vatcher was beaten with a tire iron and robbed of $14, his wrist watch and several credit cards. He managed to run, however, and the two robbers tole his car.

Shortly after 2 a.m. Thursday, a highway patrolman stopped a young man driving Vatcher's car on the San Bernardino Freeway in Los Angeles and arrested him. Neither the driver nor his companion were identified today and remained in jail in Los Angeles. But they were believed to be juveniles and Vatcher said his assailants were in their early 20s.

Meanwhile, Vatcher was treated at Pomona Valley Community Hospital and released. He had multiple cuts on his head and several broken bones in his hands. The breaks were sustained trying to ward off the blows with the tire iron, police said.

The girls were kidnaped in the same fashion late Sunday night and taken to the house on Lovejoy where they were raped and robbed. In that case the attackers did not take the victims' car, but simply walked Pomona police were expected to question the suspects arrested in Vatcher's car sometime today.

Vatcher's attackers were described as Negroes in their early 20s. One was 5 feet 8 and weighed 180 pounds. He wore a striped cap and dark clothing. The other was 5 feet 7 and weighed 155 pounds. He wore a straw hat, checkered coat and tennis

One thousand dollars was reported taken in one of two holdups in Lawrence A. Wright, 39, manager of Black Gold service station at 1344 W. Mission Blvd., told police he was unlocking the place early Thursday morning when a man approached him, showed him a .22-caliber automatic pistol and demanded money. Wright said he surrendered the cash to the man who fled on foot. The robber was described as a Negro 25 years old, 5 feet 8 weighing 175 pounds. He wore a knit cap, black leather jacket and platform shoes.

Wednesday night, Arby's Roast Beef at 1175 E. Holt Ave.. was robbed by a lone gunman armed with a pistol. Edna D. May, 20, said the man entered, pulled the pistol and demanded the money. He also fled on

The gunman was described as a Latin 24 years old 5 feet 8 weighing 150 pounds. He had shoulder-length hair and wore a blue windbreaker, white T-shirt and beige trousers.

Vandals used a 1970 two-door sedan to start a bonfire at 2 a.m. today in POMONA.

The car, owned by James Fraizo, 746 Cameo Court, Pomona, was pushed from the driveway at the home into the street.

The car was doused with a flammable liquid and firemen found a one-gallon gas can next to the car when they arrived to put out flames on the roof and hood.

Fraizo, who estimated damage to his car at $200, said he had "no idea" who was responsible.

Pound plunges to record low

LONDON (AP) - Britain's pound sterling plunged to an all-time low of $2.0150 today

In little over an hour the pound dropped nearly 1.5 cents against the dollar. The pound had closed at $2.0298 here Thursday

The previous record low for the pound of $2.0210 was set Oct. 2. Dealers listed these two key factors in the pound's latest fall:

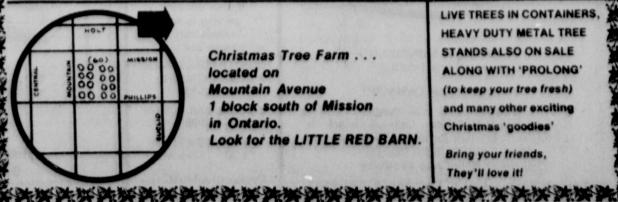

-A gloomy report by Britain's prestigious National Institute of Economic and Social Research which said the country's economy was in its worst shape in 16 years. The report was published today -President Ford's plan to help

New York City avoid financial default, which gave the U.S. dollar

new strength in Europe.

WASHINGTON (AP) -The Ford administration is pushing new legislation designed to produce more family physicians and move them to rural areas and urban slums where there are shortages of medical help.

The plan, which contains elements of other proposals pending in Congress, consists of a scholarship program that requires recipients to work for a term in the Public Health Service or as private practioners in assigned areas. The plan also would continue a federal program under which government grants were made to health schools on the basis of the number of students enrolled. The program also would be changed to make it another means of encouraging more physicians to serve in poor areas. The administration previously had opposed continuing the program. Students of medicine. osteopathy and dentistry who accepted the new proposed federal scholarships and then refused to serve in the Public Health Service or as private practitioners in assigned areas would be required to pay back twice the amount of money they had received.

The administration's proposal for continuing the capitation program calls for grants to those schools agreeing to set aside an increasing percentage of freshman openings for students willing to practice family medicine in underserved areas.

Secretary David Mathews of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare sent the new draft bill last Friday to Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller as president of the Senate. A copy was obtained by The Associated Press.

"We feel that the draft bill offers a comprehensive, integrated approach in the area of health manpower to achieve maximum impact with limited resources." Mathews wrote. "We urge the Congress to give the draft bill its prompt and favorable consideration.'

Administration health planners are hoping for bipartisan sponsorship when Congress returns from its Thanksgiving recess, to break a two-year impasse over health manpower legislation that expired in June 1974 but that has been kept alive by continuing resolutions.

The new proposal comes after deans of major U.S. medical schools told Congress last month that they supported the principle of requiring public service of medical students who receive federal scholarships. They testified before the Senate health subcommittee which for some time has been considering various proposals to aid medical education and help ease the maldistribution of physicians.

The federal government has pumped billions of dollars into health manpower programs since 1971. The result has been a 34 per cent increase in health school rolls and 45 per cent jump in new graduates.

scarcity of family doctors and other health professionals in many low-income areas across the country and the overproduction of expensive specialists. HEW estimates that half the graduates of medical schools should be trained as family doctors. But, between 1950 and 1970, the proportion of general practitioners in office practices has declined from 45 per cent to 31 per cent.

Mathews said that. without a new approach, doctors will continue to specialize because of the higher incomes and greater prestige.

In the fiscal 1976 budget, released last January, the administration had proposed phasing out capitation grants to professional schools.

But the new draft legislation would continue those grants to medical. osteopathic and dental schools at the rate of $1,500 per student, if they agreed to set aside 15 per cent of their 1977-78 freshman class slots for students interested in family medicine. The number of such slots would increase to 20 per cent the next year and 25 per cent the third

Those schools also would be required to expand their residency positions in family medicine, general internal medicine, general pediatrics and general medicine.

Capitation grants would be ended for schools of pharmacy, and phased out over three years for schools of veterinary medicine, optometry and podiatry, because HEW does not foresee shortages in those fields.

Medical students receiving new health service scholarships of $3,600 a vear would obligate themselves to repay with an equal number of years of service either in an assigned area or in a federal health program.

For those scholarship students choosing private practice in a medically under-served area, HEW would insure that their incomes did not fall below $14,000, or about 75 per cent of what they would have received in the Public Health Service.

Should a scholarship recipient fail to perform his service responsibilities," Mathews said, he would be required to repay twice the amount of the scholarship assistance tendered, multiplied by the proportion of service not performed, plus interest.

Insurance agent says

Charred homes no fire risks

By RICHARD SALTUS Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) Many of the homes charred by brush fires on the city's north edge this week were not considered special fire risks, according to an insurance agent.

Even though tinder-dry brush covered slopes not far from some of the houses that burned, their owners would not have paid higher premiums than other people unless the vegetation grew quite nearby, an agent said Tues-

'The rates up here are no higher than down in the lowlands." said Max Andeweg of the Associated Independent Agency in La Canada, a high-income suburb lying along the San Gabriel Mountain foot-

Who would ever think damage a structure five blocks from the nearest brush?" he inquired. But that was often the case, as howling Santa Ana winds blew embers from the main fire onto roofs far from open brushland.

Such an ember touched off the house of Vernie Robbins of Glendale, who, along with his neighbor. Gail Martin, suffered a total loss.

Andeweg said Robbins house was insured for $30,000 in a homeowners package that would bring him about $50,000 in benefits, including a living allowance while his house is rebuilt.

In many cases the benefits were likely to be less than the market value of the house

Most owners in the brush areas insure their houses that a forest fire would for 80 per cent of the market value, according to Orin Lowery of the Insurance Services Office.

He explained that fire insurance rates do not vary by location, but are fixed. There is, however, a brush hazard surcharge based on the proximity of uncleared brush to the house, the availability of fire protection in the area, number of hydrants, width of streets and so forth. The surcharge can be as much as $1.28 per $100 of insured value: thus the resident who insures his house for $100,000 could pay as much as $1,280 per year in addition to the regular insurance rate.

Lowery said it was too early to say what the total loss to homeowners from the fire might be. Likewise the effect on premiums. "The rates are figured on losses over a five-year period," he explained. There might not be any effect on rates. I just couldn't say.

Lowery acknowledged that the city and county have ordinances that require residents to clear away hazardous brush.

"But some people say. 'I moved up here because I love all this wild vegetation around me, and I'm not going to cut it down'." he said.

Couple operate karate school

- Richard and Sue Avery believe the family that fights together stays together.

The Averys run Tracy's Karate Studio here, teaching the martial arts to more than 100 students who range in age from 3 to 65. It started out as just something to do.

'My wife and I didn't have anything in common terms of recreational activities, so we decided to take our free time and devote it to karate," said 28-year-old Richard Avery, a second-degree black belt.

Mrs. Avery, a blonde former model and deputy county marshal, said the couple used to study karate together at the studio they now own.

"You have your little dreams you know," she said. "And we thought, Wouldn't it be nice if one day we could have that school and Rick could just teach' and that became a reality

The Averys teach kempo, a Chinese-style of karate, and also offer instruction in traditional weaponry for their advanced students. Both also compete in West Coast martial arts tournaments.

Avery said he took up karate "to build selfconfidence. I had done a lot of things like weightlifting, Scuba diving and skydiving but they didn't seem to do it. Karate gives you a positive self-image by learning self-defense.

Avery, who stands 5-foot-8 and weighs 155 pounds, says karate offers more than the ability to defend vourself

We're interested in SANTA BARBARA (AP) transmitting the values that the martial arts have to offer," he said in a telephone interview.

Karate is very physical but it's also very mental. It teaches you patience, selfrespect and selfdiscipline."

A student enrolled in the Avery's school, or dojo, receives four private classes a month plus as many group sessions as he or she wants to attend. Most students stay six months to a year, Avery said, but some have been with him for the three years he's owned the school.

Avery said he has only used karate in a real fight once.

"A guy came into the studio and attacked one of the students," he said. "Then he picked up one of the wooden swords and hit me over the head with it and I had to use some stuff. He went to the hospital for a couple of days.

Mrs. Avery. 28, a brown belt and mother of two, said she has never had to use her fighting skills. It's just as well, because her specialty in tournaments is the sai-hook sword, a deadly combination weapon with four hooks and double-edged blade.

Avery says any age can learn karate but recommends that students check out the instructor at the school they're considering attending.

"Ask for the certification of the instructor and talk to the other students," he says, explaining that black belt candidates must pass a lengthy examination given by other black belts before getting certified.

Let forest fires burn, researcher declares

While most U.S. Forest to let some of them go. Service employes worry about putting forest fires to conduct 'a "fire out, Carol Rice is busy with a plan for letting them

Miss Rice spent 21/2 months last summer hiking through a section of Shasta-Trinity National Park in Northern California to determine whether the Forest Service could safely declare a hands-off policy on fires of natural origin there. She concluded it could.

'It's very exciting. We're reevaluating our whole policy toward fires," Miss Rice, 22, said in an interview Tuesday. Until recently, the Forest Service has always put them out everywhere. Now

Though the Americans had long sought a means of reducing British influence in West Florida and indeed had made a feeble attempt in 1778 to do so, it was left to the Spanish to threaten the center of British power at Fort. George at Pensacola. Spain had allied herself with France and in June 1779, declared war against Great Britain. In August of that year, under the leadership of Bernardo de Galvez. Governor of Louisiana, Spanish forces captured the British outposts on the lower Mississippi River. The World Almanac notes.

SAN LORENZO (AP) - we're realizing it's better

She said her assignment management study" stemmed from plans to have the Thurston Peaks section of the forest designated an official Wilderness Area.

'That means leaving it untouched - even when a fire breaks out from a lightning strike," she explained, stressing that man-caused fires still would be put out. "Natural" fires are part of the process by which forests renew themselves - who are we to interfere in that?

'Besides, it's very costly to put out fires and often not worth it, because they'll burn themselves out." She said costs are especially high in remote areas such as hers where no roads have been built for motorized vehicles.

But Miss Rice said years of dousing all fires has led to an accumulation of tinderlike ground fuel in many forests that would create a holocaust if a policy of benign neglect suddenly were reimposed. That was one of the main things she checked in her

"Of course, if a forest's too populated, or too close to a city, or there's too much dead fuel, then you can't just say, 'Oh let it burn. Miss Rice, who just graduated from the University of California with a degree in forestry, had only her pet dog, Nikki, for companionship during her extended hike, on which she studied in detail the wildlife, water, soil and vegetation of a 25square mile area. She now is back home in this San Francisco East Bay suburb polishing her report.

Miss Rice said firedetection equipment has become so sophisticated that rangers usually can tell from the outset what kind of fire they're dealing with. "If its point of origin is a campsite, you have a pretty good idea it was man-caused," she said.

Since records have been kept for Thurston Peaks, two fires have been attributed to human cause and 17 to lightning strikes. Miss Rice said in more accessible areas, mancaused fires outnumber

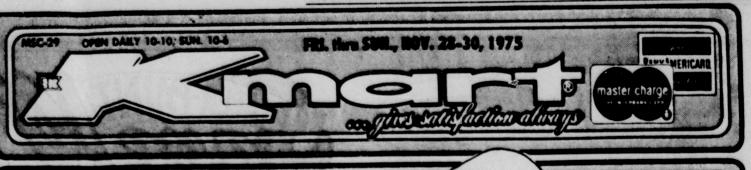

We won't be putting a lot of fire fighters out of business, even if this policy is extended widely," she

She said one problem the new approach may face is the public's belief, built up through a long antiforest fire campaign, that all fires are terrible and should be avoided.

'Smokey the Bear has done a lot to make people more careful," Miss Rice said. "but he doesn't take any kind of stand on lightning strikes."

Claremont faces choice: hike in rubbish fee or curb pickup

Are Claremont residents willing to pay $4.50 a month for backyard rubbish pickup instead of only $2.80 a month for proposed curbside pickup?

The Claremont City Council would like to obtain as many opinions as possible from local citizens before the controversial issue is brought up for a vote Jan. 13.

City Manager Norman King has reported that the sanitation operationg during the 1975-76 fiscal year is being subsidized from the city's general fund at a cost of about King said it is imperative that the rates be revised or the method of collection be changed by the July 1, 1976, billing period.

King commented that the backvard collection system has become, in some people's mind, an institution, and there is nothing wrong with that, but the cost of collecting refuse has increased about 10 per cent a year.

Municipal refuse collection in Claremont is a $420,000 a year business. It requires 16 persons and 16 vehicles to collect about 16,000 tons of rubbish from 5,100 residential customers and commercial and apartment customers.

Home rubbish pickup accounts for about 62 per cent of the 16,000 tons.

At present, residential customers are charged $4 a month for rear-yard pickup. The operation requires 11 men driving 13 vehicles including the small tote carts which zoom in and out of driveways to pick up the rubbish. Total revenue from residential fees is $244,800

Unfortunately, that figure is about $15,600 short of breaking even.

To break even now, King estimates that it will be necessary to increase the rate to $4.25 a month.

Anticipating growth in the number of residential units and a 7.5 per cent cost increase for 1976-77, King said that those two items would require a 12.5 per cent rate increase or $4.50 a month to break even.

King cited as hidden costs diminished air quality and 3,500 gallons of gasoline for backyard

King said that the residential staffing level could be reduced from 11 employes to 31/2 employes by changing to one-man, side-loading trucks. Labor costs would drop from $132,000 to $51,000 a year. Services and supplies would decrease from $20,700 to $14,200 a year. The total cost for residential collections could drop about $100,000 a year, King said.

King has recommended that the city implement a curbside collection program effective July 1, 1976, and reduce fees from $4 to about $2.80 a month. He suggested that if curbside service is not approved, the residential rate for backyard pickup be raised to $4.50 a month. Residential fees last were raised

July 1, 1973. King also recommended that commercial rates be raised about 26 per cent in order to cover existing general fund subsidies and anticipated cost increases. King's recommendations quickly caused a protest by Dick Sierra, represedntative for the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes to which the city sanitation workers belong. Sierra called for a meeting under the Brown Act between city management and sanitation workers to discuss the impact of curbside service "Many questions must be answered," Sierra said. "Our employes have tons of information on the jobs they do. King conceded that numerous internal problems must be dealt with, such as possible layoffs, selection of retained employes, and pay rates. The council thought it was such an important matter that the entire council be present. Mayor Bertye Smith was unable to be present Tuesday night because of illness.

Residents attending the meeting called the curbside service open to vandals, cats and dogs, and a signal to burglars.

burns fatal

to Pomonan

A Pomona man who sustained second-and third degree burns in a day at the County USC Medical Frank J. Camacho, 50, of 2431 Lyndale Ave. suffered second- and thirddegree burns over 33 per cent of his body when a spark from a portable light ignited paint thinner on the utility porch of his home. His 15year-old son, Oscar, suffered minor burns and was treated and released from Pomona Valley Community

Mr. Camacho, however, was transferred from the local hospital to County-USC Medical Center's burn

The coroner's office will complete an autopsy today into the cause of Mr. Camacho was born in Arizona on Dec. 7. 1924 and came to California 15 years ago. He had been a Pomona resident for three years and was a painter for Oakshire Corp. of Los Angeles and a member of St Joseph Catholic Church, Pomona. Besides his widow, Adelmira, Mr. Camacho is survived by four sons, Ricardo of Mexico and Armando, Oscar and Frank, all of Pomona; and four daughters, Maria, Laura, Norma and Gabriela, all of Pomona.

in state test

Chino students in grades two, three, six and 12 showed improvement in reading during 1974-75, but continued to rank extremely low compared with other school districts in California.

The results are contained in a report on the state mandated testing program administered to students in the Chino Unified School District.

In grade two, average students 'held their own," one district official said, by going from a 60.6 per cent test score in 1973-74 to 60.9 in 1974-75. However, they dropped from 25 to 23 per cent in the state rankings. That means 77 per cent of the districts in California rank higher than Chino, officials explained.

Third graders improved from 74.8 to 77.7 per cent on the actual test, and their state ranking went up from 22 to 24 per cent, meaning 76 per cent of districts in the state rate higher. Actual tests scores for both second and third graders were below the state average

Sixth graders improved from 17 to 23 per cent in state rankings, scoring 51.6 per cent on the test compared to a state average of 57.2. In written expression, they stayed at 23 per cent, in spelling, they improved from 18 to 29 per cent and, in math, went from 20 to 33 per cent. Their test scores all were below state averages. Official results showed that 12th graders improved from 30 to 35 per cent in reading, but skidded from 44 to 15 per cent in written expression. They dropped from 82 to 33 per cent in spelling and from 54 to 16 in math. All of the 12th grade scores were below the state average. Barbara Genco, district testing. coordinator, said the early grades showed a "trend toward im-provement" but the high school scores "bombed out."

The Pomona Jaycees, who annually coordinate the Christmas parade, have added a new dimension to this 23rd annual lineup by obtaining closed circuit television.

"This will enable the Jaycees and the citizens of Pomona to display our beautiful parade to other communities not able to put together a production of this magnitude," said Woody.

Traffic control for the parade, which will include the closing of some north-south streets along Holt Avenue, will be coordinated by Pomona Police Sgt. Roy Dixon.

Woody said he anticipates that this year's parade will run about 90 minutes, and move at a snappy pace.

The last unit in the lineup, which will include special units, bands, equestrian entries and commercial and religious floats, will be the Jaycees traditional Santa Claus

Crash hurts Chino girl

A Chino girl suffered serious injuries early today when a car ran off the Corona Expressway and landed in the Santa Ana River near the Prado Dam, said highway patrolmen.

And a Riverside County search and rescue team today searched the area for another person believed to have been driving the car.

Admitted to Riverside General Hospital was Blanca Stella Casada, 14, believed to be staying with an aunt and uncle in Chino. She suffered possible head injuries in the accident and her condition is listed as stable: Based on information given by the girl, searchers began early today looking for the victim's older brother who was reportedly driving the car. Officers also indicated there is the possibility that the brother wasn't in the car.

Investigators said the car left the roadway, was airborne for a dis-tance, and then landed in the river. The girl climbed up an embankment and was picked up by a passing motorist who took her to an ambulance firm in Corona.

LONG WAIT

Gary Tirabasso, 11, of Chino, has trouble emerging from his driveway at 12475 Ramona Ave. He claims that traffic is becoming so heavy that a signal is needed in the area.

Chino boy campaigns for traffic signal

Gary Tirabasso isn't the typical angry resident lobbying to improve traffic conditions.

He's an 11-year-old Chino boy who claims a traffic signal is badly needed at the corner of Ramona and Walnut avenues.

Gary, who lives with his parents at 12475 Ramona Ave., even wrote a recent letter to the Progress Bulletin, calling for a signal at his corner.

"It's so hard to get out of our driveway that sometimes you have to wait 10 minutes for the traffic," the boy explained. He adds that motorists often "tromp on the pedal" and just make the turn onto Ramona without stopping.

Traffic especially is bad on Ramona near Walnut because of the nearness of the Pomona Freeway, Gary says. "People don't even make a California stop (rolling to a stop). They just spin around the corner.'

The boy called for action - in the form of four-way traffic signalization. "I think something should be done for my safety and teh safety of my neighbors.

A sixth grader at Newman Elementary School, Gary has stopped driving his bike to school because traffic is so bad. But he even has problems walking out of his Numerous accidents have occurred in the Walnut-Ramona area due to hazardous driving conditions, Gary noted. His sister's car was sideswiped twice, and his father's old car was "almost totaled out." One man jumped the curb on Ramona, knocked down a sign, and cracked a water meter. Gary firmly believes that a traffic signal "will slow the cars down."

Unfortunately for Gary, Chino's Public Works Director John Gerardi feels the traffic situation at Ramona and Walnut is not heavy enough to warrant a signal now. "We install lights according to priorities as to vehicular volume and number of accidents," said Gerardi.

However, he congratulated Gary

He said it would be several years before signals were added at Ramona and Walnut. Gerardi pointed out that it is a

'gross exaggeration' for anyone to claim having to wait 10 minutes to emerge from a driveway. "You wouldn't even do that in New York

"That corner is not now in the upper levels of priority. There are other intersections in the city where a more critical need for lights exist."

for taking the time to write a letter to the newspaper. "That's the mark of a future citizen."

Our refugees

Efforts to resettle 185 Vietnamese refugees. brought to Pomona in September by group sponsor Gerald Martin, can only be described as deplorable, appalling and incredible.

Since the morning they were unloaded to this very day these people have been hapless pawns in a cruel game seemingly controlled by no one

Without the help — given freely — of volunteers, the Pomona Red Cross Chapter, generous neighbors, the city of Pomona and the Pomona school district, these men, women and children would have starved.

They have been ill treated, exploited, and worked without pay.

This is the part that is deplorable, lamentable, bad and wretched.

The appalling part of the story, the part that inspires dismay, is that this can really happen in the

Why was this situation allowed to develop in the first place? And, after it was clearly evident that it did exist, why was it allowed to continue on, and on,

The answers to these questions, given Tuesday by representatives of the Tolstoy Foundation (the nonprofit corporation through which Martin obtained his group sponsorship and at least $100,000 in federal funds) are truly incredible . . . hard to be-

Without checking into his background, only the job plan he presented. Martin was approved as the largest group sponsor in the resettlement effort. Tolstoy representative Reed Nelson said.

'We did not check people; only plans," was his direct quote.

And even though Martin's sponsorship was declared ended, and the $100,000 he had received to relocate the people was spent and they were unemployed and on welfare, Tolstoy believes Martin is being cooperative.

Nelson said Martin had been asked to stay on a couple of weeks to help a Tolstoy man take over the Golden State Gardening Co. (which Martin established with the federal funds).

Company trucks and equipment are the only assets remaining of the $100,000, and Nelson feels the company can be kept operative and provide employment for nine or 10 refugees

And what is to happen to the remainder?

Well, Nelson explained, there will be attempts made to secure new sponsors in the area, but there will be no more federal money available to assist them in their resettlement efforts.

Furthermore, Nelson said that he would discourage legal action against Martin because such a move would only "tie up the assets, and in the long run, hurt the refugees.

" Incredible

... It is clear that the organizations that had approved Martin's sponsorship, from Tolstoy up to the U.S. State Department have been and apparently still are supportive of him.

The whole thing from the very start has been bungled by inept people who we feel were ill equipped to attempt such a resettlement effort

We just wonder how long will it take for our Vietnamese residents to begin receiving humane treatment under such decidedly inane leadership?

Not so 'gay' reaction

The author of a letter to a Midwestern newspaper voices a complaint that will probably strike a sympathetic chord in many people.

'Although we live in an age of euphemisms." he writes, "I must object to their (the homosexual community's) appropriation of the word 'gay.' I -remember when gay meant happy, lighthearted, cheerful and lively. Today, because of the homosexual connotation, you cannot use the word in its traditional sense. You cannot say, 'I feel gay,' without provoking an unpleasant response.

Language of course, is constantly subject to change and evolution. New words come in and old ones go out, or sometimes, as in this case, take on entirely novel connotations. About the only consolation to those who regret the passing of this fine old word into the linguistic dustbin, except for its current, very limited application, is the fact that we can still refer to the "Gay '90s" without raising eyebrows.

Thoughts

Do you see a man skillful in his work? He will stand before kings; he will not stand before obscure men. - Proverbs 22:29.

The expectations of life depend upon diligence; the mechanic that would perfect his work must first sharpen his tools." - Confucius, Chinese philosopher.

And most of the brethren have been made confident in the Lord because of my imprisonment, and are much more bold to speak the word of God without fear. - Philippians 1:14.

It is never safe to look into the future with eyes of fear." - Edward H. Harriman, American industrialist.

Cars on the Mall not enough

Dear Editor:

Downtown Pomona came a long way following that auspicious day in the Eighteen Seventies when Alexander's Merchandise Emporium, Pomona's first store, opened for business on Second and Thomas streets to sell calicos, codfish, kerosene and farm implements to the 100 Americans and several thousand Indians who then lived in this

And even though here lately our Central Business District has fallen on evil days, now is no time to admit that we are no longer as capable as that pioneer retailer or other early day Pomona Merchant Princes such as the proprietors of the Beehive Grocery, The Frisco Meat Market. Kate Fleming's Millinery Shop, The Racket Store, Zillis Jewelry, The Pomona Novelty Works or The Peoples Store

To do so would be an act of cowardice which would cause those pioneer retailers to turn cartwheels in their graves. And were those old timers still with us, they would, I am sure, be among the first to agree that when the going gets tough the tough

Well in a way our civic leaders. who for some time have been advocating a Pomona Mall metamorphosis, have now taken action. But somehow, running one way automobile traffic down the center of the mall hardly seems enough.

Nearly a year ago an eminent revitalize the Pomona Central Business District would be to redesign its prosaic marts of trade erecting in their places a string of gorgeous Taj Mahals, Chinese Joss Houses, imitation Eiffel Towers, and maybe even a King Tut Pyramid.

He also proposed the installation of sidewalk cases where one could sit and sip and watch the world go by while being lulled into soporific euphasia by a sparkling, gurgling artificial river flowing past a background of simulated orange groves. Although he neglected to suggest the building of snow capped mountains close enough to be seen through the heaviest smog, that might well be another crowd gathering attraction. And while we are about it why not also add a Penny Arcade and a Chamber of Horrors?

Unfortunately at that time we didn't take the eminent author's advice. However, if, like Avis, we try a little harder even at this late date, maybe the Pomona Mall can once again give other shopping centers a run for their money. After all, it is a well known fact that successful retailing is primarily based on Sensation, Spectacles and Sex. So why not take a tip from the airlines and fill our fill our downtown stores with mini-skirted sales girls?

The young ladies would be specially trained to greet prospective customers with such scintillating sales come-ons as: "Buy from me, I'm Marie," or "My name is Honey. I give you more for your money." As the old Romans proved centuries ago, if you provide better bread, broads and circuses, customers will fall all over themselves beating a pathway to your door.

Instead of running around like Chicken Little crying, "The sky is falling! The sky is falling! or folding our tents like the Arabs and silently stealing away, the logical thing to do would be to take whatever measures are necessary to convince folks they'll have a ball on the Mall. Even though it requires a bit of double talk such as is currently being used by a foreign car manufacturer who advertises, "You can afford a sexy European," the effort must be made.

And if it means scrapping all the old cracker barrel, pot bellied stove retailing principles and practices and adopting a nude centerfold approach to merchandising in order to win friends and influence people, the end deserves the means. With the Central Business District's future at the crossroads, running one way traffic down the center of the Mall isn't enough. - J. K. Peirsol,

Policemen on foot

Dear Editor:

I have lived in Pomona for 60 years. For 54 years I lived in security, though there were no men in the family. In the last six years my home has been entered four times, and as I am now alone, I have spent almost $1,000 for an alarm system and to heighten fences to have some feeling of security, and to protect my property.

Pomona has a beautiful location, and I would like to see it the pleasant, safe place it used to be. Until safety is assured, we will not have business return to our mall. Sufficient patrol by policemen on foot might help.

Enforcement of the law prohibiting accumulation of trash, rubbish and refuse would help to again beautify our city. Would a report to the proper authorities encourage them to put teeth into the laws again, so offenders are brought to justice, and the innocent and law abiding are protected?

I thoroughly approve of your efforts, and wish you all success - it means for all of us the return to decent, peaceful, happy living in a beautiful little city.

I am for strict gun control - why should the law breakers be able to secure weapons so easily? I am for the police in their efforts to protect the innocent. Give them the weapons, laws with strength in them to protect the law abiding.

I am for a beautiful, well cared for city, one we can be proud of and in which we can live safely. longtime resident of Pomona

Ford fired the wrong man

WASHINGTON - The brusque firing of Defense Secretary James Schlesinger by President Ford - a result of Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's Byzantine efforts - has served one good purpose

For a brief period, it has lifted the curtain on what has been going on at the White House, the Pentagon, and the State Department. The view has been a frightening one.

Official Washington and the media now know - though what efforts they will make to alert the country is another matter - that the battles between Secretaries Kissinger and Schlesinger were not over the size of the defense budget but over the survival of the United States. At issue was Schlesinger's insistence on laying before the President evidence that the Soviet Union is systematically violating the SALT agreements. It was Schlesinger's position that the Kremlin be forcefully charged with these violations along with a demand that they cease

That those violations were of major importance goes to the heart of the matter. The Soviets have secretly built several hundred ICBM silos, all of them detected by our satellites. The Soviets are also systematically cheating on other provisions of the SALT agreements.

Among other things, they have built up an anti-ballistic missile system after having agreed not to do so if the United States would desist.

I say that it was Kissinger's contention that the facts of massive Soviet cheating and nuclear build-up should not be presented to the President, the Congress, or the people. He further argued that we should not challenge the Kremlin on these gross violations because it would make further negotiations difficult and because the Soviet leadership did not know about them. (Do I hear laughter?

was Schlesinger's contention that to ignore Soviet cheating made further negotiations with them meaningless and dangerous to American security. To remain silent would also be dishonest to the Congress and to Americans who had been assured by Kissinger at the time of SALT I that we were taking no risks since we could detect any violations and would denounce them immediately and energetically.

That the Soviets have violated every treaty and agreement to which they have put their name is, of course, unimportant to Kissinger. The only thing that matters to him is detente, even if the Kremlin uses it as a screen behind which to build a first-strike nuclear capability which will leave the United States at its mercy.

It was this debate between the secretary of state and the secretary of defense which created the "growing tension" about which President Ford has belatedly complained, and which deprived him of a "comfortable feeling. It would seem to me that Mr. Ford should have resolved the conflict within the Cabinet by firing Kissinger out of hand for attempting to deceive him and for putting his passion for detente above the safety of the nation.

Instead, he fired Secretary Schlesinger Under other circumstances, Congress would be up in arms and demanding a full investigation. Congress, however, does not like Schlesinger's "outspokenness." And though it harbors little love for Kissinger, the Democratic leadership shares his head-in-the-sand approach to the Soviets. Like the three little monkeys, it is determined to see no evil, hear no evil and speak no evil of our Communist enemy. Mr. Ford will have his "comfort." The Soviets will not be told that the United States cannot tolerate cheating in this life-and-death matter. In due course, we will wake up to find a nuclear pistol at our heads. Such is politics in today's Washington.

Again," which discusses Agnew's downfall. As Agnew's friends relate the story, the then-Vice President learned in early 1972 that President Nixon wanted to replace him on the ticket with Connally between Nixon and Agnew. We have also had access to the page proofs of Colson's unpublished book, "Born

Colson got the same impression from the President who confided that Connally was "one guy who could take over my job." The two men became so close that, after Connally's departure from government to recoup his finances, Nixon quietly intervened to help him with some oil deals in the Middle East, Colson recalls.

But Agnew had a strong, stubborn following among conservative Republicans. To replace him with a lifelong Democrat, Nixon feared, would cause a Republican repellinon. 'Could I appoint a Democrat?" Nixon asked Colson. Then, answering his own question, the President said: 'No. I can't do it.

Less than a week after their Nov. 7, 1972, reelection, Nixon summoned Agnew to the presidential retreat at Camp David, Md. Apparently, Agnew thought he was being invited

WASHINGTON - For the first for a celebration; he was unprepared for the brutal session that followed. The President informed him bluntly that the White House staff would exercise tighter control over his operation. His budget would be cut and his activities curtailed, Agnew was told. In short, the triumphant Nixon served notice that he intended to keep his Vice President on a short leash

Afterward, the President confided to an aide: "I was really surprised at the way Agnew buckled under. I would never have taken that." Agnew returned from Camp David with a new impression also of Nixon. "He is the coldest fish I ever met," Agnew remarked to a friend.

True to his word, Nixon clamped down on the Vice President who was treated thereafter like a minor functionary. He was told whom to fire and whom to keep on his staff. The humiliated Agnew was even obliged to ask a Nixon aide, Alexander Haig, for transportation and other perquisites.

The Vice President also had to clear his overseas travel with Secretary of State Henry Kissinger. Once Agnew wanted to visit his ancestral home in Greece, but Kissinger refused permission.

It was February, 1973, that Agnew first got wind that a federal grand jury was investigating him. He suspected immediately that Nixon was behind it. As Agnew confided darkly to friends, he expected Nixon to use the threat of indictment to blackmail him into giving up the vice presidency to Connally.

Colson insists that President Nixon had no such plot in mind, although he ended up trying to push Agnew out and to bring Connally in. Colson claims that the President never instigated the Agnew investigation and, in fact, never even learned about it until April, 1973.

Nixon's first reaction was to come to Agnew's aid simply to spare his Administration from further embarrassment. On April 13, 1973, he asked Colson, who had left the White House to practice law, to help

Not until September, according to Colson, did he get a suggestion from the White House that Agnew should resign. The President warned Colson:

"There is no way Agnew can escape indictment. It is time for him to make a deal.

The removal of Agnew, Nixon indicated to Colson, would take some of the heat off himself from Watergate. Conson contended, on the contrary, that a crippled Vice President would be his best insurance against impeachment.

On September 23, Nixon was back on the phone to Colson. "God," said the President, "how I wish it would all go away, but Ted (Agnew) doesn't understand the problem. He has got the best deal he can ever make. It is all boiled down to one income tax problem.

Colson said his client was worried about going to prison. "He should have no fear about that," assured Nixon. "That can be taken care of."

For the first time, Colson put the proposition straight to Agnew on September 24. He had no support in the White House; his situation was deteriorating fast; maybe it was time to make a deal.

Agnew angrily rejected the idea. "I am innocent," he swore. "I am going to stick it out. I don't give a damn. I was elected just like the President was." But Agnew's attempts to force a showdown on Capitol Hill, according to Colson, were undercut by the White House

The President still had Connally in mind as Agnew's replacement, said Colson, until Connally came under investigation for allegedly taking a bribe from dairymen. In desperation, Nixon turned to Gerald Ford to be his new Vice President.

Psychological tests available at Chaffey

I am 18 and in my fifth year of high school. All through school I have had a fairly bad record.

In grade school all my teachers told my parents that "he just won't slow down and he won't apply himself to his work."

Last year at this time I quit regular high school because I couldn't make myself go to school no matter how hard I tried. I entered an opportunity school so that I could work at my own speed. After a month at that school I attended less and less until I couldn't make myself go at all. I have been told that my problem was that I was bored, that I was mentally above the other kids or perhaps even the teachers and the reason I wouldn't apply myself was a lack of challenge.

I didn't think this was true but last night I heard of a similar case on a radio talk show in which listeners call in.

Some guy whose school background was just like mine was found by a psychologist to be a genius. A school brought this about. What I want is an address of a school of this type. Please send me an address of such a school. - P. D., Chino.

A private school executive we contacted suggested a better course would be psychological and career testing.

At the Chaffey College career center both are available to the general public. People are signing up now for an aptitude test to be given on Saturday, Jan. 24. at 8:15 a.m.

Persoanlity testing is available at any time but an appointment is needed for test interpretation by a counselor. Ask for Betty Gardner, technical director of the center, and make an appointment.

If the testing doesn't come out to your satisfaction, move over to make room for the rest of us unrecognized geniuses.

Some time ago, in Pomona, I found a lapel button in a small red plastic case bearing the inscription "Los Compadrinos de San Gabriel.

I would like to find the parent organization or affiliation so that I can return the button to its rightful owner. - F. S., La Verne.

"Los Compadrinos" is a contraction of the Spanish words "padrinos" and "compadres." The dictionary meaning of both is "godparents" but the latter designates the relationship between godparents and real parents.

We located Vicki Cordova, president of Los Compadrinos, in Arcadia with the help of San Gabriel Mission personnel. We gave you her address

Mrs. Cordova explained that Los Compadrinos present many fiestas and traditional programs. The next is Las Posadas, Mexican Christmas observance, on Sunday, Dec. 14, at 6:30 p.m. in the old San Gabriel Mission.

Isabel Fages, local president of Native Daughters of the Golden West, and Mrs. Cordova are cousins, which may explain how a Los Compadrinos button wound up in Pomona.

BERNICE BEDE OSOL For Saturday, Nov. 29

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Seek not your pleasures in groups or among crowds today. Happiness comes through the company of one you cherish above all others.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Today you'll find time to do that postponed labor of love. It may be small to others, but heart and mind combine to make it a big thing.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Situations that may be chancy for others could prove to be sure things for you as long as you don't push your good fortune beyond reason.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You're a far more sparkling person today than you realize. Don't hide your light under a bushel. Let your rays shine forth brightly

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You have massive sex appeal today, not in the physical sense but in your demeanor which members of the opposite sex find irresistible.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) While others bide their time at fun and games, you should keep your nose to the grindstone today. The rewards will enable you to play better later LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) In addition to your natural charm today, there's an extra dash of enthusiasm about you which makes your personality more charismatic.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) While others may ignore the plight of an unfortunate friend, you won't. You'll perform your good offices secretly.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You retain the desire and the capacity to be pleasantly sociable today. Don't stop at one spot. You can handle it.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Business and pleasure are a good mix for you today. Take the initiative in promoting some light diversion as a prelude to an impor-

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) The results you're seeking today can be attained with gentle, but firm, persuasion. Don't be afraid to add a dab of humor.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Soft lights, sweet music and a rendezvous with the one you love will please you today. Don't spoil it by bringing others into the picture.

Message from a fireman

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a fireman who needs to get a message across to millions of people. I can't think of a better place to say it. This is for "spectators" of any disaster you care to name.

Just exactly what are you doing there? Obviously, you are looking for excitement. A fireman has his hands full fighting the fire and trying to protect himself and his fellow firemen from smoke, heat and poisonous gases. Have you thought about the congestion you create when you park your car and run to rubber-neck? Don't you realize ambulances and emergency equipment need to be as close to the scene of the accident or fire as possible? I shudder to think of the people I've seen smoking cigarets around gastank leaks. They must be nuts.

If you want to help, folks, please join your local volunteer fire department or emergency unit. If you want to see a fire show, go home and turn on the TV. We'll both be a lot safer. A Fireman Who Wants To Do His

Dear Fireman: Here's your letter and a special plea from me to all who read it. It might be YOUR home or child in the accident who cannot be reached in time because gawkers blocked the area. Please think about this folks, the next time you are inclined to chase a siren looking for

Dear Ann Landers: This is for all those kids who complain because they are the oldest or the youngest or the one in the middle

Dear Nuts: Quit griping. You are lucky whether you know it or not. Just think what it would be like to be an only child.

When there are errands to run, chores to be done, the garden to be weeded - it all falls on one head. There's no Tom, Dick, Harry or Mary to take turns with. You have to do everything. When it comes to gifts you don't get too many because they don't want to "spoil you." I know what it's like because my best buddy is an only child and he hates it.

I'm the one in the middle. Whenever I get to feeling a little crowded I tell myself I'm lucky to have someone bigger than me to lean on and someone littler who leans on me. - Got It Made

Dear Got It: Thanks for a good letter. I especially appreciated the last part where you like the idea that someone is leaning on you. Makes you feel useful, doesn't it? Dear Ann Landers: I'm a widow, 55, but look younger. I lost my husband ten months ago and am very lonely. Nobody wants an extra woman at a dinner party. (Extra men, however are at a premium.) The friends my husband and I used to entertain showered me with attention for three weeks after my husband died. I haven't heard from them

A man I met casually at a church affair several years ago lost his wife last July. He is about my age and as I recall, very attractive. Would it be all right if I dropped him a note andtold that I, too, am alone and would like to renew our acquaintance?

I don't want to come off looking too pushy. Please advise. - Long Nights

Dear Long: Don't do it, honey. Most widowers would head for the hills if they received such a note. Unless you have a mutual friend who might be kind enough to invite you both to a party at her home, forget it.

Is alcoholism ruining your life? Know the danger signals and what to do. Read the booklet, "Alcoholism -Hope and Help," by Ann Landers. Enclose 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, selfaddressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

A warning to Mankind - also Ms.kind: The squirrels are in charge!

Our world has gone nuts. Between or among astrology, astronomy and acrimony; acapuncture and Acapulco; biofeedback, bimetalism, brain research, and Zen Buddhism; transcendental meditation and transactional analysis; sensory deprivation, psycho-synthesis, swamis, Sufis, yogis, gurus, EST, ESP, and STP; Arica, Easalon, Rolfing, group therapy and neurobiology, there is little room left in our society for us normal psychotics to grow up in.

High on the Top 40 charts of the California cult of finding-where-youare and letting-it-all-hangout and telling it-like-it-is and hearing-where you're coming-from is biorhythm, a pseudo-scientific system set up to explain why the squirrels are in

To briefly state the conclusions of 11 scientific books, 14,580 computerized charts, and 23 doctoral dissertations, the biorhythm theory holds that the human being, such as it is, is controlled by three biological rhythms, sensitive (sensory) physical and intellectual. (Am I going too fast?) All people have recurrent highs and lows in these areas. If you order one martini too many, you are probably on a low swing of your sensory cycle. When you fall off the bar stool, you're at the bottom of the physical curve. If you quote Shakespeare lying flat on your back looking up at the bouncer, your intellectual graph is doing fine.

The biorhythmaniacs maintain that the three rhythms begin at birth and run in steady, immutable cycles throughout one's life. The physical cycle is 23 days, sensitivity cycle 28 days, intellectual cycle 33 days. The first half of each cycle is made up of 'positive discharging days," the second half of "negative recharging days." Don't overdraw your charge account

The problem, or "critical" day occur when one or more of the three rhythms change from positive to negative or vice versa. This is when you forget appointments, stumble call it "one of those days," and conclude with weary fatalism that we 'shoulda stood in bed.

Russell K. Anderson, former president of a safety firm, reported in the journal of the American Society of Safety Engineers that of 1,000 industrial accidents he investigated, 90 per cent occurred on the worker's critical day. (That worker ought to be fired - imagine, 1,000 accidents!)

Airlines should not let pilots fly on their critical days. Baseball managers should not start a pitcher on his critical day. On our own critical days us normal folk should stay away from Las Vegas, the golf course, the business conference and that cutie in Accounts Receivable.

I'm delighted to learn about biorhythms and my critical days - I seem to have more tha most people. I'm not going to check to see when mine occur. When things go awry, as they mostly do, I'll happily blame it on my rhythms. I never could keep

Lean body means good health

DEAR DR. LAMB - I need information for us less fortunate folks who suffer from reverse obesity. We are not famine victims, yet have as hearty an appetite as our obese counterparts. Nonetheless, we would sell our souls for the excess our stout friends went to shed. We seem to never gain - no matter what and how much we eat. What advice have you for an average, young male, 25 years old, 6 foot. 1 inch and tipping the scales at 145 pounds soaking wet? Note, a recent physical rules out any abnormalities

DEAR READER - Count your blessings and pray that it lasts. I get buckets of mail from people concerned with losing weight, and a smaller but consistent amount from people like yourself. As I have mentioned before, the answer is not in taking in a huge number of calories and trying to hang rolls of fat on a lean frame. You don't want a pot of fat and a spare tire and a bubble bottom, and that is about what you will get from that effort. Also, such a program would greatly increase your chances of high blood pressure, diabetes, heart and vascular disease. The simple truth is that you have a much better chance for continued good health, as long as you retain your present leanness, than your obese counterparts. So, you are unhappy with how you look. What you really want is to develop some muscles which is not all bad. To do that you need a good strength training program. You are in a large enough city to get some help on a muscle building program from a city health club or from your

There are some tricks to building muscles the healthy way. It doesn't take so much exercise either. If you do too much exercise the wrong way you will not grow muscles as successfully as you could with a better program. For details on how to follow a sensible muscle development program send 50 centsfor The Health Letter number 5-4, Weight Training for Energy and Weight Control. This program will also be helpful for people who need to build muscles to prevent obesity. Just send your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 326, San Antonio Texas 78292. Include a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing.

I have a few words of caution about muscle building programs. Do not listen to recommendations about taking in lots of extra protein. Just eat a good diet each day with about 100 grams of protein. Do not listen to any unsound suggestions to drink half-and-half cream or to eat foods containing lots of fat.

Do not listen to any advice to avoid other forms of exercise that you enjoy except a weight-training program. All of those measures will add fat inside your muscles and may make your muscles look bigger, but you can seriously damage your health with such efforts. What you want are strong, lean muscles.

I can't emphasize the points about diet with weight training too much. Young men are susceptible to heart disease even in their early 20s, and consuming a fattening diet to become fat-marbled beef is very un-

Incidentally, many thin people thrive and gain weight when they stop smoking if that should be one of your habits. Nicotine is a cellular poison, and when the poison is removed the cells grow better.

West didn't know if he could beat four hearts or even five hearts, but he sure knew that he had a far better chance against five. He didn't double. It is downright silly to double merely because you think you may beat the contract. The odds against you are too great.

The contract did go down. West opened his king of spades and wound

Cars customized against terrorists

(AP) - The two-inch thick bullet-resistant windows won't roll down. And the weight and cost are far more than the conventional car. But automobiles produced by a customizing firm here can withstand a terrorist attack, providing bazookas and armor-piercing bullets aren't used.

Q. - My father is scornful of most of the modern adhesives. He says there is nothing that works as well as the old-fashioned animal glues. Is he right?

A. - Animal glues are probably the oldest types of wood glues. They are still used widely and most can be applied either hot or cold. They have great strength, but are not as moisture resistant as most of the modern adhesives. Although many adhesives are advertised as allpurpose products, experience with them shows that each is best for a certain purpose, although it must be admitted that some of the new, fairly expensive adhesives come fairly close to having allpurpose characteristics. As adhesive manufacturers insist, failures with glues and other binding agents occur mostly because they are not used exactly according to the directions. The best advice that can be given to anyone purchasing an adhesive for a particular purpose is to read the label before buying. Not only should you pay attention to its specific uses, you should heed the instructions as to the manner of use. Some adhesives are troublesome to prepare and apply, while others require a long time to set and cure. Select an should be a fairly large adhesive which fits your intended time and patience. And be especially careful that, if an adhesive is flammable, volatile or toxic, you are prepared to take the necessary precautions.

Q. - We are covering our den walls with knotty pine plywood. We expect to stain it a very light tone. then put on varnish. Should this be done before the walls are put up or after?

A. — While it can be done before or after, the preference is before. Since you are looking for a specific tone, better do a little testing first. It may be that the varnish itself will darken the wood sufficiently to meet your wishes. If not, put a little of the stain on a small area and wipe it off quickly. If it's still too light, allow the stain to remain a little longer, then wipe it. You will soon discover the amount of time necessary to achieve the shade you

Determined amateur can paper a ceiling

By VIVIAN BROWN

ceiling is a job that must be done gently. You may have watched wallpaperers slather on the paste and apply big gobs of paper with a perfect sense of accuracy. But somehow it doesn't work that way for the beginner.

A woman doing such a job was complimented for her calm. She had learned that steady thoughts were necessary, she said. There was no advantage in trying to do a speedy job. And the disadvantages could be a

On her first try she had even decided to do the ceiling lengthwise, which was 'was kind of dumb" she said because it would not have improved the appearance of the room and it gave her longer strips to hold in her hands. She had thought it would make the room look bigger to run the paper lengthwise but it would also have made it look narrower, she has decided. She became so enmeshed in paper, paste and all the rest of it even her hair had paste in it - that she decided she had had it.

In discussing her experience at the paint store where she bought the paper, she was encouraged to begin again but to run the strips crosswise rather than lengthwise. They cautioned also that if it was an old house she should measure the walls carefully before cutting all the strips the same length. Many old houses were gerrybuilt and the walls are not the same distance apart at both ends.

She added a couple of inches to the measurement when she cut the paper into strips and she was glad that she had tried anew because it was much easier working with shorter strips. But if you aren't in condition, your arms will really get a workout. another reason why the job can't be rushed.

As one wearies of such a job, mistakes can be made. For example, small gaps may be left between strips in your eagerness to have over with it. You may even end up with some strips way off target.

The strips are folded in the same manner used for papering walls - a fold loop effect - after they are pasted.

Actually she marked the ceiling for the first couple of strips and she had wanted to mark the entire ceiling, but she didn't see the necessity of that after she had begun. It went on smoothly and each strip served as its own marker. A scaffold was made by placing a board between two stepladders. This let her put the paper down occasionally, but it is good to ceiling would be a big AP Newsfeatures Writer have a helper to provide Hanging wallpaper to a some relief and to help move the scaffold with

She had originally planned to run the paper up one wall, go across the ceiling and down the other wall, but realized that couldn't be done. The pattern on one wall would not match the other wall. strategy. He said that despite some published accounts to the contrary, Jackson never considered foregoing major campaigns in the early primaries. 'We're just beginning now to make our plans,' Keefe said. "We're just getting ourselves cranked

He said Jackson would campaign and travel extensively in both Florida and Massachusetts. "We're going to make a good effort in both these states," he said.

No decision has yet been reached on the New Hampshire primary, although Keefe said, "we have some investigations going on up there right now. We have not ruled it out.

Keefe said the Jackson campaign is only now deciding which primaries to concentrate on. "We devoted most of 1975 to finance matters, and also took advantage of the strong media opportunities which we felt were here in Washington, D.C., rather than out in the field.

Bulls trade Thurmond to Cavs for Patterson

CHICAGO (AP) - The Chicago Bulls, ending several days of speculation, have traded reserve center Nate Thurmond and his $350,000 salary to the Cleveland Cavaliers.

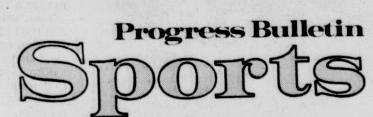

Bulls' reserve forward Rowland Garrett also is going to Cleveland, a spokesman for the National Basketball Association team said Thursday. In return, Cavaliers' center Steve Patterson and rookie forward Eric Fernsten will come to Chicago.

In other developments, the Bulls obtained veteran forward Jack Marin from the Buffalo Braves for "future considerations," and guard Jerry Sloan was placed on the injured reserve list, which means he will miss at least five games.

Thurmond, 34, came to the Bulls last year from the Golden State Warriors. The 6-foot-11, 13-year veteran started only a few games before being replaced by Tom Boerwinkle. As a member of the Warriors, Thurmond was named to the NBA all-star team seven times.

Rams make turkeys of Lions PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — A drippy dome made the Pontiac Stadium turf a soggy synthetic, but the Detroit Lions just weren't able to throw a wet blanket on Los Angeles' Thanksgiving Day party.

The Rams rode to their third consecutive National Conference West Division title Thursday on the passing arm of James Harris, handing the Lions a 20-0 National Football League loss.

It was the first time the Lions had been shut out since an identical 20-0 setback to Washington in the 1973 Turkey Day game.

Although all 80,638 tickets were sold, 11,086 persons decided not to show up for the traditional holiday battle-perhaps chosing to join the estimated 40 million who viewed the game on national television.

Indeed, if they were Lions' fans, they undoubtedly made the right decision. Why spoil a Thanksgiving feast at grandma's to watch the Rams feast on the Lions?

While the Rams raised their record to 9-2. Detroit fell to 6-5 to see its flickering wild-card playoff hopes just about vanish. The unbeaten Minnesota Vikings, meanwhile didn't can do," Forzano said. "Los Angeles even have to leave the dinner table to clinch the Central Division title. The loss by second-place Detroit did that.

"It's not over for us," said Lions' Coach Rick Forzano, always the eternal optimist. "If I die tomorrow, I'll say on my gravestone that this team gave everything they had. These guys don't know the meaning of the word quit.

The Rams don't know the meaning of the word, either. Harris wouldn't quit throwing touchdown passes and wide receiver Harold Jackson wouldn't quit catching. Harris completed 11 of 24 passes for 157 yards and three TDs.

The first was a first-quarter 11varder to wide receiver Ron Jessie. The next two went to Jackson, a 17yarder in the third period and a 38yard bomb in the fourth quarter.

Jackson, who had little trouble evading cornerback Levi Johnson, snared five passes for 106 yards. Forzano praised the coaching of the Rams' Chuck Knox, the Lions' offensive line coach before heading West to take over the Rams' top spot three years ago.

We all know what Chuck Knox is a superbly coached team. They have a lot of talent and they use it right. They were well prepared for our multiple defenses.

There was no notable title clinching celebration in the Rams' dressing room. There was no champagne. But Knox did light up an awfully big, expensive-looking cigar.

"It's just great to come back here and cinch our division," he said. "That's the biggest thing. It doesn't make any difference who we're playing against.

It was also a homecoming for Jessie, who played out his option last year and signed with the Rams. He and running back Cullen Bryant, who was originally supposed to go to Detroit as compensation, were only slightly booed.

Lions' quarterback Joe Reed had a bad day, but Forzano said poor timing had a lot to do with it because some receivers had practiced little during the week due to injuries.

Reed hit on 11 of 26 passes for 117 yards. The closest the Lions got to paydirt was in the closing minutes when they reached the Rams' 12yard line. They got to the 14 in the second quarter, but safety Bill Simpson intercepted a Reed aerial at the goal line.

The Rams, made another key interception in the third quarter when safety Dave Elmendorf picked off a Reed pass at the Los Angeles 39. The Rams then drove 61 yards in seven plays to score on Harris' 17-yard pass to Jackson.

Jesse's touchdown climaxed a 59yard, 11-play march. It featured a 19yard Harris-to-Jim Bertelsen pass and a 15-yard Harris keeper. The 38yard scoring bomb in the final quarter concluded a 71-year, seven-play Detroit was hurt by 10 penalties. An illegal motion call against guard Lynn Boden nullified a razzle-dazzle play in which Reed centered the ball to Altie Taylor just before halftime. Taylor rambled 53 yards to the Rams' 27.

A 28-yard Reed scamper to the Rams' 32 in the third period was ruined by an unsportsmanlike conduct penalty against wide receiver

The second round of the CIF football playoffs will swing into view tonight, with only three local high schools still left in the competition.

The three "survivors," Chino, Damien and Walnut, will have to play some of their best football of the fall if they hope to get past tonight's contests, as all three have drawn some tough assignments.

Chino, 9-1 on the year, will be facing a highly regarded South Pasadena squad, which also sports a 9-1 season record. That 3-A game will take place tonight at Arcadia High starting at 8 p.m. The Arcadia High stadium can be reached by taking Foothill Freeway 210 to Santa Anita Ave. in Arcadia. The stadium is located at Duarte Ave. approximately a mile south of the freeway on Santa Anita. Damien will also be on the road, in fact the Spartans have already left for their 3-A playoff game tonight in The Damien team and coaches departed La Verne at 11 a.m. this morning for tonight's 8 p.m. encounter with Lompoc High at Lompoc High stadium. That field is located at 515 W. College Ave. in Lompoc. The Spartans plan to stay overnight in the host city following the game. Walnut was the only area squad to draw a home contest.

The Mustangs will go against El Dorado this evening at 8 p.m. at Mt. San Antonio College in a 2-A playoff outing. Chino and South Pasadena both sport tough defensive units, so their game tonight figures to be a low-scoring af-The Cowboys will be riding a seven-game winning streak into the game while South Pas has won eight in a row. Chino's only 1975 loss was to Pomona by a 12-10 score, while South Pas dropped a 16-12 decision to Blair in its second game of the season.

The Cowboys continue to be paced by halfback Rick Riedel on offense. The senior, in his third year as a starter for coach Jim Rawls crew, has amassed well over 1,000 yards rushing this season. Quarterback Chris Pruitt has also been effective, both as a passer and runner. Pruitt's favorite targets have been tight end Pat Krzysiak and wide receivers Bob Andazola and Ron Janecek

The Tigers have a fine runner of their own in Robbie Chapman. Chapman is a 6-foot-1, 185-pound junior who has rushed for 752 yards so far this year. He is averaging Quarterback Gordon Bohannon and fullback Brian Fox round out the Tiger offensive backfield. Both have looked impressive this year in the ball-control type of offense that South Pasadena has uitlized. Whether or not that offense can successfully operate against the rugged Chino defensive eleven is one of the things to watch for tonight. Leading the charge on defense for the Cowboys of late have been defensive tackles Marty Edens and Tom McClintock, linebacker Bob Mc-Michael and defensive backs Brent Cash, Vivi Bernal and Damien will be making one of its longest treks in history for a prep contest, as the Spartans will be traveling all the way to Lompoc. If Lompoc had been paired against Damien going into the first round of the playoffs, the Spartans would have been heavy favorites. However, Lompoc sprang one of the biggest upsets of the opening rounds by edging Crescenta Valley 21-20. That win pushed Lompoc's season mark to 7-3, in contrast to the Spartans' 9-1 ledger.

The Braves trailed Crescenta Valley 20-9 in the final quarter of that game, but a key fumble recovery by the Lompoc defense and two touchdown passes by quarterback Chuck Van Allen paved the way to victory for the Northern League representatives.

Crescenta Valley had gone into that game with an 8-1 record and was ranked fifth in the final CIF 3-A poll. so obviously Lompoc didn't beat a weak team.

That and the fact that the game is at Lompoc tonight could spell trouble for the Spartans. The Damien defense will have to contain Van Allen's passing and also the runn-ing of halfback Calvin Boler. Boler picked up 88 yards last week against Crescenta Valley.

The Damien offense seemed to get untracked last week in the second half of a 21-6 win over Arlington. Quarterback Joe Carroll has been erratic of late but is still capable of blistering the Brave secondary with his passes. The Spartans also have four very capable runners in Ruben Lopez, Leo Burke, Dennis Gainey and Jim

On defense linemen Felix Delgadillo and Hugo Cargnelutti and linebackers Greg Elias and Brian Faust have been sparkplugs for the Spartans all season.

Walnut (9-1) pulled some last-minute heroics of its own last week to save its 14-13 win over Mission Viejo. As has been the case all year for the Mustangs, defense has been the team's strongpoint.

That defense will be tested by El Dorado (8-2) tonight at MSAC. The Orange County School is on the crest of an eight-game winning streak, including a 16-7 playoff win over Artesia last Friday.

Hawk running back Jim Haynie is averaging over 100 yards rushing per contest this fall and quarterback Todd Peterson has been highly effective as a passer. Both will test that touted Mustang defense tonight.

Walnut has two fine runners in Keith McDermott and Kevin Morgan, but its passing game has been less than overwhelming this fall, although quarterback Kevin Loggins had a good outing against Mission Viejo last week with 143 yards through the air and one touchdown. Warriors 106, Bucks 105

Bills bruise Cards behind Jim Braxton

ST. LOUIS (AP)-Bruising Jim Braxton did most things right and the St. Louis Cardinals most things

Not really so surprising, then, that the two elements added up to a 32-14 Buffalo Bills upset Thursday in the National Football League.

This puts us back in the running," beamed Buffalo Coach Lou Saban after his Bills, 7-4, pulled within half a game of the front-running Miami Dolphins in the American Conference East. "It gives us impetus," Saban said. "It was our third game in 11 days. It's sure nice to get out

Buffalo's triumph, dropping St. Louis to 8-3, came on the rampaging runs of Braxton, who scored three touchdowns and amassed a pro career rushing high of 160

But lending a more than a substantial assist to the Bills effort was a succession of seven St. Louis turnovers, five in the closing half. Buffalo converted the Cards' second error, a fumble by Steve Jones, into O.J. Simpson's three-yard touchdown run for a 13-7 halftime edge. Then, with a ball-hawking secondary picking off four Jim Hart passes, the Bills turned the next four St. Louis mistakes into 19 points and a commanding 32-7 lead with 11:28 remaining. John Leypoldt booted field goals of 30 and 33 yards

Both resulted from two other turnovers-the first Dwight Harrison's two interceptions and and Don Croft's fumble

Later, as St. Louis predictably went to the air, rapidfire piracies by Harrison and Tony Greene, both deep in Cards territory, helped seal the outcome.

Braxton blasted five yards to score after Harrison's second theft, boosting Buffalo's lead to 26-7 on the fourth play of the final quarter.

Canadiens get tough with a solid defense

By The Associated Press

The Montreal Canadiens are making a good case for the defense and with a lawyer in goal, that's a pretty strong

'Last year we took no pride in our defense, but now we're really a hard-nosed team," says goaltender Ken Dryden. "We no longer shy away from making the big defensive play. We seem to come up with it when we have while leading the Canadiens to a 2-1 National Hockey League victory over the New York Islanders. His performance plunged his goals-against average under 1.7, a figure that leads the NHL. "The team is more consistent this year," said Dryden,

And Thursday night, he continued to glitter in goal who has accounted for 12 victories, four of them shutouts. "Everybody has been playing better. I'm playing as well in the net as I did before my sabbatical. And I'm playing better outside of the net. In the only other NHL game, the Kansas City Scouts nipped the St. Louis Blues 3-2. In the World Hockey Association, the Indianapolis Racers stopped the Winnipeg Jets 3-1; the Minnesota Fighting Saints turned back the Cincinnati Stingers 53; the San Diego Mariners beat the Quebec Nordiques 5-1 and the Calgary Cowboys blasted the Phoenix Roadrunners 5-1.

Steve Shutt's goal with 3:11 gone in the final period provided the winning goal for Montreal. Islander goalie Billy Smith had made a save on a shot by Serge Savard but was then caught out of position as Shutt pumped in the winning

The victory was the first in seven games for the Canadiens over th Islanders. Montreal, which had three losses and three ties with the Islanders, had last beaten them March 1974.

Scouts 3, Blues 2

Wilf Paiement, Germain Ganon and Gary Bergman each scored second-period goals to lead Kansas City over St. Louis. Paiement's goal, his fourth of the year and second in two nights against the Blues, came on a breakaway only 40 seconds into the second period. Ganon added to the Kansas City lead with a power play goal at 6:52 of the period off a centering pass from Paiement.

Bergman gave the Scouts a 3-0 lead three minutes later. his second goal of the year, on a rebound of a Robin Burns shot

Racers 3, Jets 1

Murray Heatly and Kim Clackson picked up their first goals of the season and Randy Wyrozab his eighth as Indianapolis beat Winnipeg.

Saints 5, Stingers 3

Wayne Connelly equaled a WHA single-game record with five goals to lead Minnesota over Cincinnati. The record was set by Ron Ward of the former New York Raiders three years ago and since matched by former Edmonton player Ron Climia and Houston's Andre Hinse.

Mariners 5, Nordiques 1

Goalie Ernie Wakely stopped 25 shots to lead San Diego over Quebec. The victory moved San Diego to within four points of first-place Houston in the Western Division.

Cowboys 5, Roadrunners 1 Ray DeLorenzi scored two goals as Calgary racked up a third straight road victory by beating Phoenix.

Three things to decide Arizona, ASU outcome

Turnovers, execution and the intangible quality of emotion should decide the outcome of Saturday night's battle between undefeated Arizona State and once-beaten Arizona, the two coaches agree

The two football powerhouses have been pointing to the game all season long. At stake is the Western Athletic Conference championship and the host spot in the Dec. 26 Fiesta Bowl here against Nebraska Emotions play a part in such a big game, so both offenses and both defenses will be at their very best, says Jim Young, coach of 9-1 Arizona, ranked No. 12 in the nation.

Arizona State Coach Frank Kush, whose Sun Devils are 10-0 and ranked No. 8, says, "The kids have been extremely enthusiastic. I'm sure they're the game as well as any

In preparing for the battle, the two coaches almost echoed each other when they discussed the keys to the contest.

'Turnovers are going to be very important and the kicking game, execution of the kicking game. Those are the keys "Young said Kush agreed about the importance of turnovers. noting that the Wildcats have "done a remarkable job with very few interceptions" and fumbles.

It shapes up as a replay of 1973, except that then the Wildcats had already clinched a tie for the title and needed a win to get into the Fiesta Bowl. The Sun Devils crushed those hopes 55-19, shared the WAC crown and went on to dump Pitt in the bowl

'Defensively, I think that over the season, ASU has had a very aggressive defense. Our defense has really come on in the last four weeks. It's a great deal better," he added.

On offense, the Wildcats boast quarterback Bruce Hill, who has completed nearly 50 per cent of his passes for 1.817 yards and 20 touchdowns, and receivers Scott Piper and "T" Bell. Young said he plans to start Bernal Davis at tailback and Dean Shock

Mt. San Antonio College breezed by the MSAC Alumni, 85-62. Wednesday night in a tune-up for tonight's basketball season opener at Glendale. Saturday the Mounties' home opener is against Rio Hondo. Both games begin at 7:30 p.m.

Citrus and Chaffey also open the season tonight. Chaffey hosts Pasadena City College and Citrus visits East L.A. Saturday, Chaffey travels to Moorpark and Citrus hosts Antelope Valley. All four games are scheduled for 8 p.m.

MSAC was off and running from the beginning aginast the Alumni, shooting its way to a 17-8 lead.

Bill Hewitt, the ex-Laker, kept the Alumni in the game with his rebounding and scoring. He pulled down six first-half rebounds and scored 16 points. The Alumni's shooting percentage in the first half was 22.5 per cent as they hit only nine of 40 shots. They also pulled down 19 rebounds which equaled MSAC's total.

Duaine Harding was the top scorer for MSAC in the first half with 10 points, and the top Mountie rebounder was Tom Pokorski with four. MSAC's halftime lead was 47-25.

MSAC began the second half by trading baskets with the Alumni squad. Larry Bliss and Bill Hewitt scored baskets for the Alumni, while Harding and Pokorski pumped in twopointers for the Mounties. However MSAC finally got its running game started and outran the ex-Moundications of lower interest rates overcame worries about New York City and prompted a rally in the stock market last week.

If you get the feeling somebody's pointing the finger at you, you're right.

We've got a serious situation in Southern California. Our current supplies of natural gas are dwindling, and it's going to take time to develop new sources.

We at the Gas Company realize it's our problem. But you should know it's also your problem. Here's why. We're already unable to supply many of our larger "interruptible" industrial customers and if all of us don't make a serious effort to conserve natural gas, we're going to have to start curtailing supplies to small businesses as early as 1978. That means some businesses are going to be hurt, and people will lose jobs. The resulting effects on the economy are depressing to contemplate. Everyone will be affected.

We're asking your help at home and at work. Please conserve natural gas. If you don't know the many ways you can save this valuable resource, fill in the coupon and send it to us.

We have a program for everyone, because conserving energy is everyone's concern.

But it's got to start with one person. You.

wandering with woody GARTH "WOODY" ELLWOOD

It had been some time since I had been to Casa Ramon, the Mexican restaurant at Griswold's Old School House in Claremont. And I must confess that on my past browsings through the intriguing shops in G.O.S.H. I had never gotten past the Casa foyer, being either too full or too broke to go on in. So it was with some anticipation that I planned going there for the unveiling of a new Casa Ramon menu last Friday night.

I had heard that some people have had a hard time finding Casa Ramon. I anticipated no trouble since I had been there (almost) before, but I hadn't entered from the Indian Hill side. Easier! Long, well marked canopy over the walkway. As we entered the G.O.S.H. building, I was taken back a few years as the metallic sound of the door closing behind us reminded me that this had been, after all, a schoolhouse at one time.

It was like walking into a Spanish courtyard, this first entry into Casa Ramon. There was a casualness and congeniality about the place as we were seated overlooking a terraced dining area bordered with hanging plants and Mexican paintings and pottery. The meal was very good, and I was reminded that our area is fortunate in having many outstanding Mexican restaurants. When I go out to eat, the quality of the meal is almost secondary to the personality of the place . . . the personalities of the people who make it go. And I was, quite frankly, prepared for some kind of sophisticated promo for Casa Ramon when several of the Griswold's people came by to chat. But I didn't reckon on the infectious enthusiasm of youth. General Manager Jeff Sanner, assistant GM and Casa manager Chuck Knight, Kris Woods and Gloria Sharkey, advertising, and public relations, all young, all earnest in their desire respectively. to make the dining experience at Casa Ramon pleasant. They put the pin to the sophistication balloon, and I was impressed by their sincerity. "Trio Monte Carlo" adds that extra touch to your dining enjoyment there, playing requests at your table.

Whenever I get to Griswold's at night, I can't resist the urge to see what's happening at the Boiler Room, a kicky little club in the basement of G.O.S.H. The place was alive with chatter, dancing, and the sounds of "General Merchantile" holding forth on the stage in front of the ancient Claremont H.S. boiler, reborn and decorated now to serve as centerpiece for this lively night spot. Mick, Bill, and Leafy (a vivacious little ding ding who seems well named) comprise "General Merchantile." They play Friday and Saturday nights from 8:30 to

Have you stopped by the Beef 'N Barrel lately? An entertaining group called "Applejack" performs in the lounge. They obviously enjoy their work, and had good rapport with an enthusiastic Saturday night crowd.

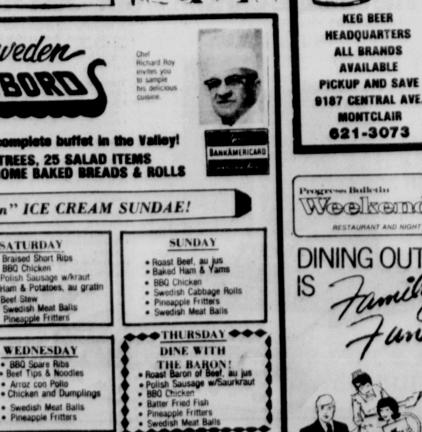

La Verne has a relatively new restaurant in Dick and Rosalie Lawler's O'Hara House at 1520 White Ave., across the street from the L.A. County Fairgrounds. They already seem to be gaining favor with their customers because of something they offer that's a little out of the ordinary - Black Angus Beef. "Choice beef here is really choice," said Dick. "Quality beef needs quality preparation, and our chef, Virgil Smith, really knows what he's doing in the kitchen.

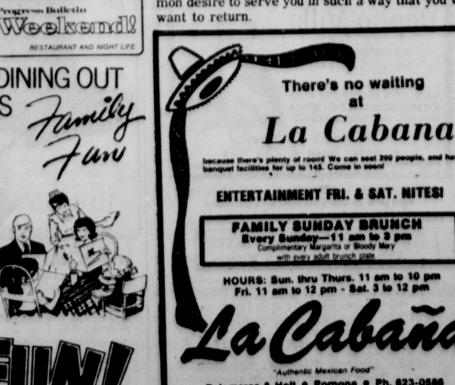

I seem to be spending quite a bit of time in the kitchen these days myself, come to think about it. But, unlike Virgil, I'm not always sure what I'm doing there. (In fact, that's what Dave Bakes asked me when I popped into his Candlelite Inn kitchen "what're you doing here?!) Saturday night . .

Heretofore when I've gone out to eat, I've just assumed that the kitchens ARE out there someplace. But now I'm getting a little different perspective on the restaurant business, and a cleaner picture is emerging of the men and women who are responsible for the good food we take for granted in our favorite restaurants. From the fast-paced and seemingly frenzied activity at McDonald's to the gleaming Acapulco kitchen with its tempting aromas and fastidious personnel, there is a common desire to serve you in such a way that you will want to return.
